The Heart in the Wilson & Company organization shows everywhere. It does not play hide-and-seek. It comes right out in the open. There is no difficulty in tagging it.

I am going to give to you in my next week letter a very human story about a little slip of a girl—25 years old—who is the inspiring leader in the ranks of even 1.100 women workers in the Wilson & Company plant.

In inviting the governors of all the states and mayors of more than 100 cities to meet with him in a conference in Washington March 3 to 4. President Wilson is seeking to get at the very roots of readjuatment. With his keen perspective and his ability to solve knotty problems, he is expected to help map out a program that will tend to head off unemployment in the United States.

In calling the meeting of governors and municipal officials, the president has selected the quickest means for bringing about adjustment, for it is these men who have the burden of adjustment upon their shoulders for their own particular cities and states. Everyone knew that reconstruction meant readjustment in every line of industry. For several years the United States enjoyed the greatest era of prosperity known to its history, many because upon the battlefields of Europe the greatest conflict of the ages was raging and it was calling for the products which America was in a position to furnish.

To furnish these war materials and products which America was in a position to furnish.

To furnish these war materials and products which America was in a position to furnish.

To furnish these war materials and products industry and put it took months to do it. Now that the war is over, it will have taken months to re-revolutionize industry and put it upon a peace-time basis. The reasons for this are:

First, that the change from war to possible the president, governors and beads of municipalities with their intimate knowledge of the employment and business situation from purely local to that of state and nation constitute an ideal adjustment congress. They possess all the data and the viewpoints that who is a positio

REAL IRON

Peptiron May Be Just What You Need This Spring.

Probably nine people out of ten have lost or are losing their grip on health in these trying months of awful epidemics, exposure to damp, changeable weather, and association with sick people in overheated homes. Depicted blood, loss of the red corpuscles, shattered nerves, loss of ap-petite, dull, dozy feelings in the head, irritability, all loudly call for the real tonic strength and nourishment that Peptiron will give you. It is a won-derful corrective of anemic tendency, paleness, languor, nerve exhaustion. Peptiron restores the red cor-puscles to the blood and gives a natural vigor and snap that keeps up courage, makes you cheery and helpful to your family and friends, and contributes wonderfully to the health of all.
